We Do is a learning solution that brings together technology, curriculum and hands-on work, and is aligned with key educational standards and learning objectives.
The project-based activities help build science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) knowledge.
Working in pairs, your students will utilize their skills to create moving models, all while enhancing their creative and problem solving abilities.
(The students will not be able to take home any of their creations)
